

Monthly Financial Report

January 31, 2024

Village of Oswego
Monthly Financial Report
For the Period Ending January 31, 2024

Fiscal year total revenues for all Funds exceeded total expenditures for all Funds by $11.0 million. This was attributed to revenue coming in as scheduled while large capital projects occurred in spring and invoices had not been received yet. Positive year to date returns in the Police Pension Fund contributed to the surplus. The following table shows the monthly revenues and expenditures recorded through January for each Fund and a comparison to the budget.

- % of budget is "n/a" for non-budgeted funds

Three Funds have greater expenditures compared to revenues. The TIF Fund, Water & Sewer Capital Fund and Municipal Fleet Funds have a budgeted deficit, so the deficit in these funds is expected.

Sales tax

The following graph details historical sales tax revenues based on the month the sale occurred. The current fiscal year reflects the month the revenue was received. The Village receives sales tax revenue in the third month following the point of sale. For example, the sales tax paid on purchases made in October 2023 was due to the State from retailers in November 2023. The State paid the Village its share in January 2024.

- Sales tax revenue for the month of January was $8,136 greater than last year. Fiscal year to date sales tax revenue is ($26,385), 0.4% less than last year. Inflation is a contributing factor to the overall decrease, resulting in decreased spending.

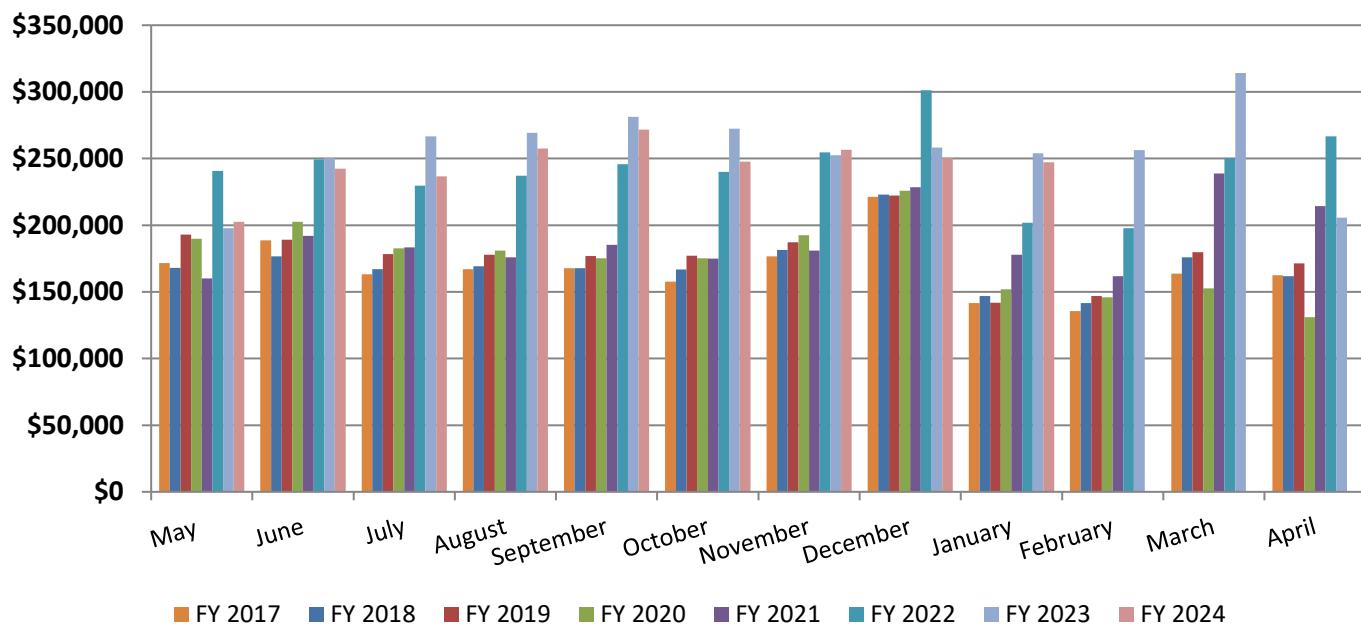

A comparison of sales tax revenue fiscal year to date through January for the previous ten years depicts an annual increasing trend. Sales tax revenue has been increasing year over year due to the new online sales tax, increase in population, and good local economy with residents and non residents spending within the community. Overall sales tax revenue for the year is expected to be similar to last year.

Local Home Rule Sales Tax

Fiscal Year to date receipts were ($123,280), 2.1%, less than last year. The following two charts display the half percent home rule sales tax allocated to the General Fund and the three quarters percent allocated to the Capital Improvement Fund. The data is demonstrated month over month, by fiscal year. Inflation is a contributing factor to the overall decrease.

Local Sales Tax - General Fund

Local Sales Tax - Capital Improvement Fund

Income Tax - The following chart compares fiscal year-to-date 2018 through 2023 actual income tax receipts compared to fiscal year-to-date receipts for FY 2024. Fiscal year 2024 receipts through January were ($27,411), 0.6%, less than last year. Receipts from May 2023 were an anomaly due to timing of tax payments the previous year. Excluding the anomaly month, overall receipts are up.

Utility Taxes - The Village collects utility taxes on the “use” of three utilities: natural gas, electricity, and telecommunications. The rates for each tax are: 3% of gross receipts for natural gas, 6.0% of gross charges for telecommunications, and a tiered kilowatt-hour use rate for electricity equivalent to 3.0% of gross charges.

- Telecommunications tax receipts continue to decline year over year. Receipts for the month of January were ($1,651), 6.5%, less than last year. Year to date receipts were ($11,519), 4.9% less than last year.
- Natural gas receipts for the month of January were ($28,361), 33.8% less than last year. Year to date receipts were ($51,476), 17.1% less than last year. The decreases are weather related, Oswego had an unusually mild winter.
- Electricity tax receipts for the month of January were ($11,347), 17.7%, less than last year. Year to date receipts were ($24,132), 4.6% less than last year.

Permit Fees – The Village classifies permit revenue into several categories. The main categories are Building Permits, Sign Permits and Accessory Permits. Overall revenue for these main categories was $525,890, 108%, greater than last year. Contractor Registration fees were discontinued in Fiscal Year 2024 which had a minor impact on overall permit fee revenue but significantly improved efficiencies.

- Building permit revenue was $299,677, 161%, greater than last year.
- Sign permit revenue was ($957), 10.9%, less than last year.
- Accessory permit revenue was $292,320, 128%, greater than last year.

General Fund Department % of Expenditure Budget Spent

Expenditures are categorized for comparison purposes. The timing of actual expenditures by departments varies from year to year causing some categories to exceed the benchmark in any given month. The benchmark for January was 75% of budget.

Spending Benchmark = 75%

- General Fund Summary: At 70%, overall expenditures were under the 67% benchmark.
- Administration: department was at 66% of budget. Contractual services trended over budget due to Utility Rebates coming in more than expected. Other Services trended over budget due to most of the travel and training occurring in the first half of the year. Operating supplies trended over budget due to an annual subscription being paid in full in May.
- Community relations: department was at 66% of budget. Operating supplies are slightly over budget at this point but still within budget for the whole year.
- Building & permitting: department was at 67% of budget. All categories were under the benchmark.
- Development services: department was at 62% of budget. Health insurance is trending over budget due to employee turnover with new employees taking a higher level of coverage than the employee they replaced.
- Economic development: department was at 63% of budget. Other Services is over budget due to an unbudgeted expense to advertise in Real Estate Publishing. This expense has been added to the TY24 budget.
- Finance department: department was at 72% of budget. Operating Supplies are over budget for this time of year, but still within budget for the whole year.
- Information technology: department was 70% of budget. Contractual Services exceed the benchmark due to many annual subscriptions paid out early in the year. Operating Supplies exceeded the benchmark due to one-time purchases. This will level out as the year proceeds.
- Police department: department was at 75% of budget. The Village's contribution to the Police Pension Fund is accounted for in the Insurance and Benefits line. This revenue from property tax receipts is received and paid to the fund early in the year causing the account to temporarily trend over budget. Annual dispatch costs are paid from the Professional Services line in May which causes this lend to temporarily trend over budget.
- Public Works: department was at 61% of budget. Mosquito Control for the year was paid out in late fall causing the Other Services category to temporarily trend over budget.

The pages following this summary will provide a view of each Fund's compiled revenue and expenditure activity for the reporting month, as well as fiscal year-to-date activity, and the Funds' performance as compared to the total budget of each Fund.

Monthly Market Review

Fixed Income | February 2024

Information provided by Illinois Trust's Investment Adviser PFM Asset Management LLC

Punxsutawney Phil prognosticates an early spring, Fed Chair Powell practices policy patience.

Economic Highlights

- The Federal Reserve (Fed) kept the overnight target rate unchanged at its current range of 5.25% to 5.50% at the conclusion of its meeting on January 31 and continued to push back on market expectations that a rate cut was imminent. In the post-meeting press conference, Chair Jerome Powell once again noted the importance of incoming data for policy decisions and balancing the risks of cutting the overnight rate too soon.
- Inflation, as measured by the year-over-year (YoY) change in the consumer price index (CPI) rose slightly to 3.4% in December mainly due to higher shelter and energy costs. Meanwhile, core CPI (which excludes food and energy) ticked down to 3.9% and maintained its 15-month trend lower. This also marked the first time since 2021 that core CPI came in below 4%.
- The labor market remains as strong as ever and is a gusty tailwind to the outlook for consumers. Monthly job growth wowed again in February as 353,000 jobs were added on the heels of January's gains of 333,000. These were the largest monthly gains in over a year. Wage growth remains robust and has now outpaced headline CPI for eight consecutive months, while the unemployment rate of 3.7% remains near all-time lows.
- Initial estimates suggest that real gross domestic product (GDP) increased at an annual rate of 3.3% in the fourth quarter of 2023, firmly besting estimates of 2.0%. Consumer spending continued to lead the way as the Q4 reading of 2.8% only modestly trailed Q3's torrid 3.1% pace.
- Strong retail sales (which do not adjust for inflation) persisted through the holiday season, increasing 5.6% YoY. The stronger-than-expected gains were broad-based and led by growth in holiday-related department stores, online retailers, and clothing stores.
- Home price appreciation continued to accelerate in November as the S&P/Case-Shiller Home Price Index increased by 5.1% YoY. The divergence between new and existing home sales deepened as the former increased 8% over the month and the latter fell to a nearly 15-year low.

Bond Markets

- The U.S. Treasury yield curve steepened over the month as maturities inside 10 years ended January modestly lower. The 10- and 30-year U.S. Treasury tenors led rates higher as the longer-term economic outlook and expectations for Fed balance sheet reductions firmed.
- The benchmark 2-, 5- and 10-year U.S. Treasuries finished the month at 4.21%, 3.84% and 3.91%, changing by -4, -1 and +3 basis points for the month, respectively.
- The policy-sensitive 2-year U.S. Treasury traded over a 25-basis point range during the month, reflecting a market that may have gotten ahead of itself as it continues to reconcile Fed guidance with economic data.

- The ICE BofA 2-, 5- and 10-year Treasury indices returned 1.12%, 2.30% and 4.04%, respectively, for the month as the benefits of higher income on fixed income securities buoyed total returns.

Equity Markets

- Equity markets maintained momentum from Q4 through January as the S&P 500 Index and Dow Jones Industrial Average both hit new all-time highs, increasing by 1.7% and 1.3% for the month, respectively. The NASDAQ Index increased by 1.0%. International equites (as measured by the MSCI ACWI ex-U.S.) finished lower by 1.0%, underscoring the modest divergence in global economic growth outlooks.
- The dollar index (DXY) jumped 1.9% in January, as markets digested Fed commentary around overnight target rate outlooks and the diminishing probability of imminent cuts.

PFMAM Strategy Recap

- We prefer a neutral duration stance relative to benchmarks as the current Fed interest rate hiking cycle has likely come to an end.
- Spreads on federal agencies and supranationals remained anchored over the month. While agency debt issuance has been light over the past several months, record issuance from supranationals to kickstart the year was met with strong demand.
- Momentum from the Q4 "risk-on" rally continued in investment-grade corporates as the sector generated positive excess returns and buoyed portfolio performance. This has driven spreads on most corporate issuers to near their 12-month lows. As a result, we may use this as an opportunity to trim allocations in the sector, booking gains and creating room to add back to the sector, while exercising patience for better entry points.
- After outperforming notably in Q4, mortgage-backed securities (MBS) were a mixed bag during January. Shorter collateral (15-year) mortgage pools posted positive excess returns, while the more rate-sensitive 30-year mortgage pools underperformed markedly as the steepening U.S. Treasury curve, led by the 30-year maturity, weighed on the sector. We continue to look to the new issue market to add agency-backed commercial MBS in the intermediate-term area of the curve.
- Asset-backed securities (ABS) performed exceedingly well through January as record issuance was met with strong demand. After lagging the spread tightening that was observed in corporates in the latter half of 2023, the sector rallied through January and ended the month at or near their summer lows.
- Short-term money market maturities continue to benefit from high yields as the curve remains inverted and the Fed reiterates policy patience. Short-term credit remains an attractive alternative to similar maturity U.S. Treasuries, despite modestly narrower spreads over the past several months.

Is a Recession in the Cards?

Special Report | February 2024

pfm asset management

At PFM Asset Management, we consistently believed that despite the Federal Reserve (Fed) raising interest rates to bring inflation down to its 2% target, the U.S. economy had enough tailwinds to achieve a soft landing and avoid a recession. While this view was out of consensus for all of 2022 and most of 2023, recently, more economists have come around to our view. However, the risk of recession remains elevated. And, while our base case remains a soft landing, we explore the possibility of a recession in 2024 and if one occurred, whether it would be mild or a more severe economic downturn.

The Case for a Soft Landing

Since the Fed started to raise interest rates to decrease inflation, most economists forecasted that the United States would fall into a recession (Exhibit 1). In addition to aggressively hiking rates, the Fed continued to withdraw liquidity from the system by allowing its balance sheet to shrink (Exhibit 2). While we recognized that the risk of recession was elevated, our base case was and remains that a soft landing is achievable. This outlook was based on our view that inflation would moderate and our perception of favorable tailwinds for the U.S. economy.

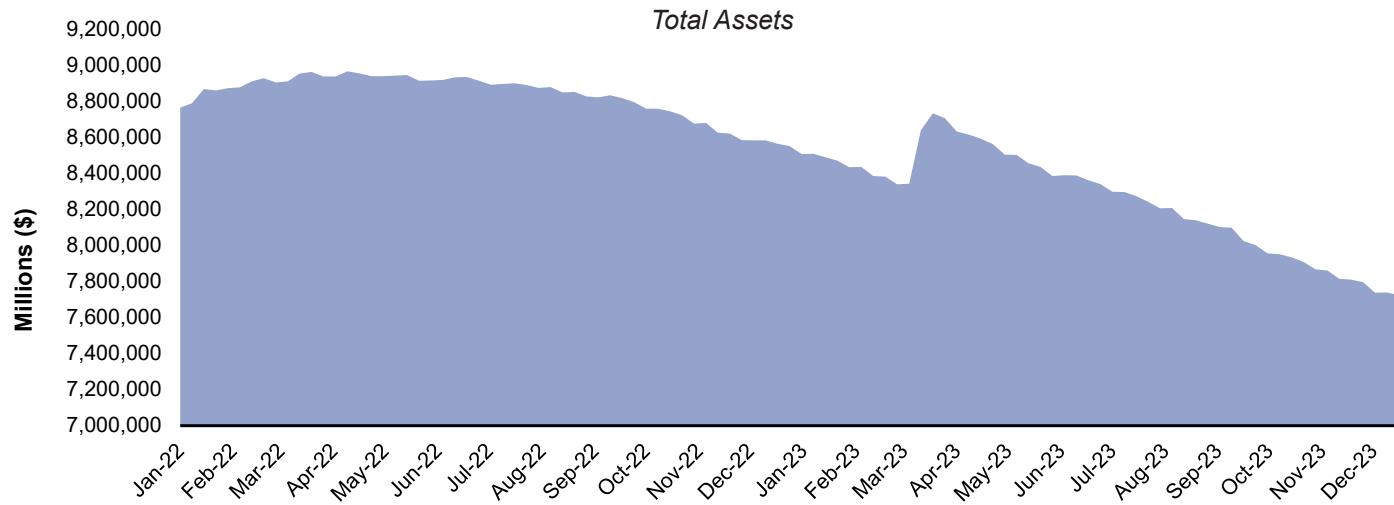

Our view that inflation would moderate was based on our assessment that the significant increase in inflation, which began in 2021, was driven by extraordinary fiscal and monetary policies following the onset of the global pandemic, combined with a severe strain on supply chains.

YoY Change

As a result of these policies, money supply increased significantly (Exhibit 3). Our analysis suggested that as money supply growth eased and supply chains slowly returned to historical levels, it will be conducive to goods inflation (Exhibit 4). At the same time, labor markets went through unprecedented change – the labor force participation rate fell to 60.1% in April 2020 compared to 63.3% in February 2020 as a result of the pandemic related pullback, and has recently recovered to 62.5%. This has put pressure on service-oriented sectors of the economy, leading to a higher ratio of job openings to the number of job seekers as well as higher wage growth. We are currently seeing a moderation in goods inflation and wage growth. Meanwhile, the shelter component of inflation continues to exert upward pressure on inflation due to the tight housing market, but we are seeing signs of rent pressure easing as well (Exhibit 5).

Exhibit 5: New Tenant Rent Index

In addition to moderating inflation, our base case for a soft landing is supported by several favorable tailwinds for the U.S. economy. For example, the labor market remains healthy with a historically low unemployment rate. Weekly jobless claims and continuing claims also remain at historically low levels, and the U.S. economy has produced approximately 200,000 net new jobs per month over the past three months (Exhibits 6,7,8).

Given that consumer spending accounts for approximately 70% of economic activity, and given the strong labor market, we expect the consumer to keep spending and by extension, help the economy avoid a recession (Exhibit 9). It should also be noted that consumer spending is supported by a significant increase in household net worth since the onset of the pandemic (Exhibit 10).

Alternative Scenarios

Again, while our base case remains a soft landing, the risk of recession is elevated. Historically, the impact of higher interest rates negatively impacts the economy with a lag period of nine to 18 months.

Several indicators that have accurately predicted recessions in the past are raising a red flag, including the Treasury yield curve, which remains inverted, and the Leading Economic Index, which is negative on a year-over-year basis.

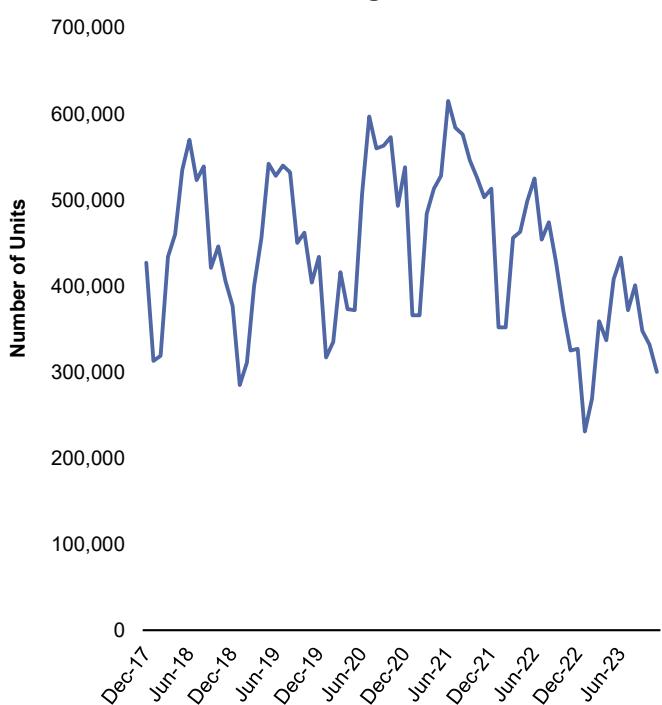

In addition to these economic indicators, there are other signs that the economy is losing momentum, and that the consumer is perhaps not in as strong of a financial position as one might expect. For example, the housing market is experiencing stress due to higher mortgage rates (Exhibit 11). Consumer confidence is also fragile due to significantly higher prices for basic necessities (Exhibit 12 on the next page).

And, while wage growth has started to outpace inflation, consumers did suffer declining real weekly earnings over the past couple of years (Exhibit 13). Further, the so-called excess savings built up during the initial phase of the pandemic as the government provided financial support to some households, has been largely depleted (Exhibit 14).

It should also be noted that consumer delinquencies are starting to rise, suggesting that some consumers are financially stretched and fragile (Exhibit 15). Adding to this, consumers with student loans will need to start making monthly payments after a hiatus which began in early 2020. Surveys of business activities as represented by the Purchasing Managers Index (PMI) suggest that economic activities are also moderating, and that manufacturing activity is contracting (Exhibit 16).

Exhibit 16: ISM Purchasing Managers Indices

Outside the U.S., the global economy is seeing a significant slowdown. The Eurozone is on the verge of stagnating and China continues to face headwinds which include elevated debt levels and a deflating real estate bubble. In addition, there are numerous geopolitical risks, including the war in Ukraine and the Middle East conflict.

As a result of the headwinds noted above, the U.S. economy could slip into a recession. However, should that happen, our expectation is that it would be a mild one. In the case of recession, the Fed would likely cut rates significantly since inflation has moderated and would likely end quantitative tightening (QT) and once again begin to expand its balance sheet.

Further supporting the case for a mild recession is that even if the unemployment rate rises, it is likely to remain low by historical standards given the starting point. Moreover, corporations are in a strong financial position with good profit levels and given that many refinanced their debt when rates were low. Finally, because 2024 is an election year, we suggest that the Biden Administration with Congress could provide some form of fiscal stimulus, or at least be dovish with regard to policy.

While the odds of a more significant downturn are lower, we do want to acknowledge that it is possible. One scenario leading to a deep recession would be an expansion of the Middle East conflict. Currently, we expect the conflict to remain fairly contained. However, there is a risk that it could expand to include non-state as well as state actors. If that were to occur, it is possible that the price of oil could rise to $150 per barrel or more. Such an increase in oil price would not only drive the global economy into recession, but inflation would reverse and rise. Under such a scenario, the Fed would not be able to cut rates to support economic growth since it would need to keep rates high and may even need to raise rates further to fight inflation. Should this transpire, a significant recession would be a near certainty.

We may also experience a significant recession due to the misallocation of capital over the past number of years. Specifically, since the financial crisis (in 2007-2009), the Fed and other major central banks have been conducting significant monetary experimentation. Domestically, the Fed cut rates to 0% and kept them there for a prolonged period of time. Meanwhile, other central banks including the European Central Bank (ECB), cut rates into negative territory, which was nearly unheard of before 2007. These lower levels of interest rates have led to investments in projects with lower return thresholds. As interest rates have risen, sectors with higher embedded leverage are faced with renewing debt at higher interest rates. At the same time, companies are forced to have more capital discipline in light of higher borrowing costs. As a result, a normalization of monetary policy could lead to pain and losses across certain sectors. The real question is whether the pain could be contained or does it become systemic by impacting the banking sector. This is what happened during the financial crisis. Our expectation is that losses would likely remain contained, but this is not guaranteed.

Focus on the Long Term

As Dr. Spock of Star Trek fame said, "live long and prosper." This is advice worth taking. By focusing on the long term, investors are less likely to overact to temporary movements in the economy and capital markets. The U.S. and global economy have seen many recessions, some of which were severe, and yet investors who stayed the course were richly rewarded. While we expect a soft landing and can present analysis supporting our outlook, the fact is that no one can guarantee that the economy will not fall into a recession in 2024.

The U.S. and global economy will also certainly experience recessions in the future. And, just as in the past, those recessions will eventually end, and the economy will grow once again. Similarly, the capital markets, which track asset prices, will ebb and flow. But over extended periods of time, it is likely that they will track higher.

Our expectation for U.S. equity returns over the intermediate term (defined as five years) is 7%. The data in our 2024 Capital Market Assumptions shows that some segments of the equity market, such as small-caps, are expected to achieve over 8% due to attractive valuations.<sup>1</sup> Bonds, which many had written off when rates were artificially low, are also expected to deliver fairly good returns over the intermediate term. Investment grade core bonds are expected to deliver a 6% total return, while high yield is expected to deliver equity like returns of 8%. Despite how the economy performs in 2024, by focusing on the long term, investors can indeed prosper.
